About The Building

An early 1900s completely-remodeled two story colonial style building.

Located on a quiet mostly residential street without bus traffic.

Safe walking distance to cultural activities but far enough from the bustle of downtown. Twelve guestrooms with private baths designed to give space and convenience.

Well-ventilated spacious bathrooms with a separate dressing area.

Marble top counters and talavera sinks.

Other constructed areas include the poolside kitchen and bar, office, a public bathroom, and two large storage rooms.

Thick walls and high ceilings keep the building cool and well-ventilated.

Wide corridors are lined with arches and columns and protect the rooms from the elements.

All guestrooms face the central garden patio.

The central patio has lush vegetation and two soothing fountains.

The large back patio has a filtered swimming pool completely tiled with mosaics.

Intimate second floor terrace

The gardens have fruit bearing trees including mango, sour orange, and banana.

The building and public areas are well-maintained and in excellent condition.

All rooms, bathrooms, and corridors are tiled with either original or new high quality tiles. Hydraulic and water softening systems deliver soft water with good pressure to all the rooms.

Electrical substation with an abundant power supply.

The remodeling process took two years to complete. All new plumbing and the electrical wiring was installed including ducts for cable and internet access in all of the guestrooms.

Nine of the twelve guestrooms and the office have Carrier minisplit airconditioning. All twelve guestrooms and the office have Hunter ceiling fans.

An urban oasis with a harmonious and aesthetically pleasing design.
